

CW Patchwork of Personalities

Like a colorful quilt, Country Woman readers throughout North America make up a patchwork of friendly, down-to-earth, talented and caring women. In this new feature, you'll meet some of the many who reflect the strength, diversity and spirit of our special audience.

FAMILY:

Leeann and husband Jim, a crop duster, have two daughters and two grandsons.

JOB:

Floral designer and doll maker.

HOBBIES:

Cake decorating, stenciling and needlework.

Leeann Curtis

COLFAX, WASHINGTON

Doll making isn't child's play for Leeann Curtis. It's become her passion.

"Leeann sews and sells lovely Amish dolls she calls Faceless Friends," explains her good friend Wanda Brunstetter. "Her cloth creations have been 'adopted' by families from across the U.S. and as far as England." (See her Web site through www.countrywomanmagazine.com/links).

Currently, Leeann pursues her playful profession in her country home, where she lives with her husband. She's also a baker, born and bred. Wanda adds, "Since Leanne was a girl, she's been making delicious breads from her mother's Pennsylvania Dutch recipes."